IRISHMEN RIOT

Free-for-All Fight Nearly Terminates Convention at Dublin.

Dublin, Feb. 10.—That John Redmond holds undiminished control of his party and, while steadfastly adhering to the policy of strict independence with regard to the English political parties, declines to countenance any hampering of the Liberal leaders by harassing tactics, was proved at the exciting session of the United Irish league convention. The minority, headed by William O'Brien, in advocating a policy of frank hostility toward the Liberals, had a very bad reception. Their speeches were shouted down and all Mr. Redmond's efforts failed to secure a respectful hearing, even for Mr. O'Brien himself.

Angry feeling was displayed and finally led to unseemly rowdiness which culminated in a free fight on the platform and nearly brought the convention to an abrupt and untimely conclusion.
